STOCKLAND GREEN HILLS REVEALS TOP FIVE SPRING SUMMER FASHION TRENDS

Spring is in the air which means finally stowing away those thick knits and scarves and starting to think about warm weather wear.

Angela Vogt, Centre Manager at Stockland Green Hills, said that customers should look no further than Stockland Green Hills for all of their spring summer fashion needs.

"Our retailers are up-to-date and fully stocked on the latest trends so customers can be sure to find their most flattering styles and step into the season feeling their best."

The trusty boiler suit: This one-piece wonder is taking over both fashion week and the streets. The all-in-one boiler is a comfortable time saver that does all the hard work for you, the biggest of which being eliminating indecisive morning wardrobe struggles.

Beige on beige: This spring summer is all about keeping it fresh and cool as the heat rolls through. The colour trend of the season reflects this with a beige and neutral head-to-toe look that is anything but basic.

Ms Vogt said: "Seed Heritage is on point for this trend, offering light and breezy options with plenty of yellows and linens. Customers can expect earthy tones with fun prints such as animals, cherries and palm trees, which will exude effortless sophistication."

Head over heels with headwear: The runways are smattered with headwear this spring summer, making your outfit incomplete until you have a bucket or straw hat on your crown.

Texturise your look: Fashion is getting touchy feely this season, calling for some texture to your outfit, be it feathers, lace, frills, rhinestones or sequins.

Ms Vogt shared: "This spring summer at Tigerlily is all about the dreamers, romantics and travellers. Their Scintilla collection is full of beautifully intricate broderie designs which comes across as refined luxe. The style is regal yet delicate, and features crinkled base clothes and fringe finishes, as well as the signature Tigerlily patch working."

Mediterranean islands-inspired: Think Santorini or Italian Riviera-infused beach fashion, with bikinis, one-pieces, sarongs and straw bags dominating this look.

Ms Vogt said: "Stockland Green Hills has brought together the hottest looks from the latest swimwear giants like Seafolly, Camilla or Baku and is keeping it classic with solid blacks in flattering cuts, or simple floral prints. Be it bikinis or one-pieces in a wide range of sizes, customers will be sure to find a look they love."

"The centre is not only a great place for the community to come and shop, but also to connect with others and experience new things that add value to their lives."
