Making the most of your display home visit

Home and land packages are a great way of getting a complete new home solution, so ask your Stockland Sales Professional about a package deal for your chosen home.

Enjoy it

Take a moment to reflect on your visit or release any built-up energy if the kids are in tow. Remember to enjoy your visit and get excited about the process of shopping for a brand new home!

Use it

Each display home has an experienced building representative on hand to explain anything you need to know and answer your questions. Take a business card and follow up any queries you might have after your visit.

Remember it

Take notes while you're at the display village to reflect on once you leave – these could also be invaluable when it comes time to discuss ways to personalise your home with your builder. During your visit, try to picture yourself actually living in the home.

Revisit it

Be sure to take the time to give each home the attention it deserves. If your time is limited or the kids are losing interest, it is wise to make a second visit rather than rush through your inspection.

The four steps to building

Step 1

Choosing the right finance option

With over 65 years' experience, Stockland understands what is involved with buying land and building a home. Seeking independent financial advice is the first step to understanding what the right type of loan is to suit your situation. It's important to be clear about what you can comfortably afford.

Be sure to consider how your circumstances could change over time, such as starting a family or changing jobs. Consider including a financial buffer so you're not overstretched and can concentrate on simply enjoying your new home.

Step 2

Choosing the right community for you

Choosing the right community will ensure future happiness once your home is completed. Cloverton is a vibrant community 38 kilometres north of the Melbourne CBD where you and your family can enjoy the best of all worlds. Close to nature and the nearby amenities of Craigieburn, this residential community will set a new standard for location, choice and services in this highly sought after region.

Choosing your land

After deciding that Cloverton is the right place for you, the next step is to determine the land options. Cloverton offers a variety of lot sizes to suit everyone's needs. By dropping by our Sales Office near the Display Village you will be able to see what we have on offer, or call or email our sales team.

Step 4

Choosing the design of your home

The final step is to decide on the exact home design that suits your needs. Living in a home that reflects your individual style will make your life more enjoyable. When building a new home, it's important to consider what options are going to be affordable, functional and pleasant for you and your family.

Selecting a design that makes the best use of your chosen block and its unique site and environmental factors will have a huge impact on the comfort and quality of living in your new home.
